

Was Almost Crazy

A well-known citizen of Laramie, Colo., who had suffered with eczema until its tortures nearly drove her crazy, recently authorized the following statement: "I spent hundreds of dollars during the past 10 years trying to get relief from this intolerable itching. In one week after using Cranolene I was free from the burning and itching. Oh, what a relief! At my age, 67, the length of time it has run I think it is remarkable what Cranolene has done for me. I can recommend Cranolene very highly." All skin sufferers should write Cranolene, Dept. G. Girard, Kansas, for a free supply of this remarkable treatment or purchase a jar from their local druggist, who will refund the price in full if it fails to satisfy. For sale by J. O. Anderson Pharmacy, and druggists everywhere.

HAVANA PAPERS PRINT SPEECH

Wilson's Address on Mexican Relations Given Out First in Latin-America.

EXPAND BIG BROTHER IDEA

President Anxious for American Nations to Show World How to Make Peace.

(Associated Press.)
Havana, June 11.—President Wilson, in his address to the Mexican newspaper editors in Washington last Friday, expressed sincere friendship for Mexico. His address, which is printed in the morning newspapers here today, follows, in part:
"I have never received a group of men who were more welcome than you, because it has been one of my distresses during my presidency that the Mexican people did not more thoroughly understand the attitude of the United States toward Mexico. I think I can assure you that that attitude is one of sincere friendship.
"The policy of my administration toward Mexico was in every point based upon the principle that the internal settlement of the affairs of Mexico was none of our business; that we had no right to interfere with or dictate to Mexico in any particular with regard to her own affairs. When we sent troops into Mexico our sincere desire was nothing else than to assist you to get rid of a man who was making the settlement of your affairs for the time being impossible. We had no desire to use our troops for any other purpose, and I was in hopes that by assisting in that way and thereupon immediately withdrawing I might give substantial proof of assurance that I had given your government through President Carranza.
"Idealistic Objects Only.
"At the present time it distresses me to learn that certain influences, which I assume to be German in their origin, are trying to make a wrong impression throughout Mexico as to the purpose of the United States and to give an absolutely untrue account of things that happened.

"We are the champions of those nations which have not had the military standing which would enable them to compete with the strongest nations in the world, and I look forward with pride to the time which I hope will come when we can give substantial evidence not only that we do not want anything out of this war, but that we would not accept anything out of it; that it is absolutely a case of disinterested action. And if you will watch the attitude of our people you will see that nothing stirs them so deeply as the assurance that this war, so far as we are concerned, is for idealistic objects.
"Did You Want 'A Big Brother' Idea?
"Some time ago I proposed a sort of pan-American agreement. I had perceived that one of the difficulties of our past relationships with Latin-America was this:
"The famous Monroe doctrine was adopted without your consent and without the consent of any of the Central American or South American states. We said: 'We are going to be your big brother whether you want us to be or not.'
"We did not ask whether it was agreeable to you that we should be your big brother. We said we were going to be. Now, that is all very well as far as protecting you from aggression from the other side of the water was concerned, but there was nothing in it that protected you from aggression from us, and I have repeatedly seen an uneasy feeling on the part of representatives of the state of Central and South America that our self-appointed protection might be for our own benefit and our own interests and not for the interests of our neighbors. So I have said: 'Let us have a common guarantee that all of us will sign a declaration of political independence and territorial integrity. Let us agree that if any of us, the United States included, violates the political independence or territorial integrity of any of the others, all the others will jump on her.'
"Peace Only by Trust.
"Now, that is the kind of agreement that will have to be the foundation of the future life of the nations of the world, gentlemen.
"The whole family of nations will have to agree to each nation that no nation shall violate its political independence or its territorial integrity. That is the basis—the only conceivable basis—for the future peace of the world, and I must admit that I was anxious to have the states or the two continents of America show the way to the rest of the world as to how to make a basis for peace.

"Peace can only come by trust. If you can once get a situation of trust, then you have got a situation of permanent peace. Therefore, every one of us owes it as a patriotic duty to his own country to plant the seeds of trust and of confidence instead of the seeds of suspicion and a variety of interest."
LAVISH USE OF MEN AND GUNS AVAILS BUT LITTLE

Germans' Primary Object Is Reduction of Embarrassing Salient.

(Associated Press.)
Paris, June 11.—Through the lavish use of men and material the Germans sought all day Monday to widen the gains of Sunday in the center of the Montdidier-Noyon sector.
The total result was a slight advance on the left center, which nowhere exceeded a mile in depth.
The object of the present German operations is to reduce the salient left standing between the gains made in the March and May offensives. Until that is effected he cannot proceed with his plan for a march on Paris.
Both the strenuous and, on the whole, effective resistance of the French and the furious efforts of the Germans are explained by the fact that an enemy success would involve the retirement of the French forces defending the line between the Aisne and the Marne, threaten both flanks with envelopment and open to the Germans the main roads to Paris from Compiègne, Villers-Cotterets and Chateau-Thierry.

ECONOMIZER AND BOILER EXPLODES AT NEW ORLEANS

Several Injured in Plant of Railway and Light Company—City in Darkness.
New Orleans, June 11.—Explosion of an economizer and boiler in the central power plant of the New Orleans Railway and Light company early Monday resulted in the injury of eight men, two probably fatally, and plunged the city into almost total darkness for nearly an hour. Street car service, cut off at the time of the explosion, may not be resumed for forty-eight hours because of the fact that the plant was the principal generator of electrical current for street car use, company officials announced.
The plant, located near the river at Market and South Peters streets, was damaged in excess of $50,000, it was estimated.
The business section of the city was kept lighted through sub-stations, but the residence sections of the city for the most part were dark.
Persons detained in town after 8 o'clock were forced to walk to their homes unless they were lucky enough to secure seats in overcrowded taxicabs, trucks or wagons.
Soldiers from Camp Nichols and Jackson barracks were rushed to the scene of the explosion and guards along the river front were tripled.
Department of justice officials announced tonight there were no grounds for reports that the explosion resulted from enemy actions.

GERMAN PAPERS FEATURE RAID OF SUBMARINES

Pan-German Organs Jubilant. Moment Seems Favorable for Attack "On This Enemy."

(By Cyril Brown, Staff Correspondent of the World.)
(Copyright, 1918, by the Press Publishing Company.)
(The New York World.)
The Hague, Holland (Via London).—The entire German press features everything obtainable regarding submarines off the American coast as the most important news of the day. It marks the abandonment by Germany of the policy of trying to maintain the illusion at home that the war with America is more or less academic.
By sanctioning the carrying of war into American waters the highest leadership has made it clear to the people that America can no longer be regarded as a far off platoon enemy. German public opinion fully understands that submarine operations off America's coast are no mere diversion, but mark a change of policy dictated by necessity. It is tantamount to admission that America must now be regarded as a real enemy on a par with England, incidentally giving the lie to militarism's carefully fostered propaganda in Germany which ever since the outbreak of the war has sought to persuade the German people that America was negligible as a military factor.
Militarism Drops Mask.
Tremendous significance accordingly lies in the fact that militarism at last has dropped the mask and now considers the psychological moment has come for bringing home to the German people a full and bitter realization that real war is on between America and Germany; that, along with England, America is a real enemy, whose "war will must be broken" before peace is possible.
This real significance of carrying the war to America is reflected in the attitude of the German press; for, while Pan-German organs are jubilant over the transatlantic submarine offensive, many papers show the utmost restraint, contenting themselves with featuring every scrap of available news, while organs of moderate public opinion, such as the Tageblatt and Vorwaerts, entirely refrain from comment.

"A Joyous Surprise."
The Lokal-Anzeiger says: "The appearance of German submarines off the American coast need not appear entirely unexpected, yet particularly at this moment it constitutes a joyous surprise. A look at the map reveals that warfare in the proximity of the American coast necessitates bridging approximately the same distance from Germany as the submarine warfare in the barrier zone on the West African coast. To be sure, a barrier zone does not exist at the present time on the North American coast.
"It is obvious that the more America grows to be the center of war-help for our enemies, and the more the most important and most numerous transports go out from America, and the more violation of neutral shipping is centralized in America, and the more one sees to keep up sinking confidence in other countries of our enemies, the more does the moment appear favorable for an attack against this enemy; and it will surely not fail to take place whenever our other tasks permit it."

BERLIN REPORT CLAIMS CAPTURE 8,000 PRISONERS

Berlin, June 10, (Monday).—(Via London).—"Southwest of Noyon we have made progress in fighting with newly brought up French forces," says the war office communication this evening.

The statement says:
"Artillery firing was revived between Arras and Albert, south of the Somme and on the Aves. Lively reconnoitering activity continues.
"In a powerful attack we penetrated into the hilly district southwest of Noyon. West of the Matz river we have taken French positions near Mortemer and Arville and pushed forward beyond Cuvilly and Riquebourg.
"East of the Matz river the height of Guris was captured. In spite of the stubborn resistance of the enemy our infantry fought its way through the woods of Riquebourg and LeMotte and threw the enemy back between Burmont and Moreil.
"South and southeast of Lassigny we penetrated far into Thiescourt wood. Violent counter-attacks by the French were repulsed.
"We have captured about 8,000 prisoners and some guns.
"On the front between the Oise and Rhine the situation is unchanged. Local engagements north of the Aisne, northwest of Chateau Thierry and in the neighborhood of Bligny brought in prisoners.
"Thirty-seven enemy aeroplanes and several captive balloons were shot down yesterday."

SOLEMN WARNING SOUNDED BY WILSON

Declares War Can Be Lost in America as Well as on Fields of France.

(International News Service.)
Washington, June 11.—Solemn warning that "the war can be lost in America as well as on the fields of France" was voiced today by President Wilson in a telegram to the American alliance for labor and democracy, now in session at St. Paul, again urging that no labor difficulties be permitted to interrupt war work.
"And ill-considered or unjust interruption of effectual labor of the country may make it impossible to win it," continued the president's telegram. "No controversy between capital and labor should be suffered to interrupt it until every instrumentality set up by the government for amicable settlement has been employed and its intermeditation headed to the utmost; and the government has set up instrumentalities wholly fair and adequate." The text of the telegram, which was addressed to Robert Minsell, was as follows:
"The American alliance for labor and democracy has my earnest hope for a successful convention that will give added strength to future activities. Called into being to combat ignorance and misunderstanding, skillfully played upon by disloyal influences, your organization has done a great and necessary work. It has aided materially in promoting the unity that proceeds from exact understanding and is today a valid and important part of the great machinery that co-ordinates the energies of America in the perpetuation of a just and righteous war.
"The war can be lost in America as well as on the fields of France, and ill-considered or unjust interruptions of the essential labor of the country may make it impossible to win it. No controversy between capital and labor should be suffered to interrupt it until every instrumentality set up by the government for its amicable settlement has been employed and its intermeditation headed to the utmost; and the government has set up instrumentalities wholly fair and adequate. And this duty to avoid such interruptions of industry wherever they can be avoided without the actual sacrifice of essential rights rests upon the employer as imperatively as upon the workman. No man can afford to do injustice at any time, but at this time justice is the essence of national defense and contests for any sort of advantage that at other times would be justified may now jeopardize the very life of the nation."
